Please join us for a delicious dinner and a fantastic opportunity to hear Angela Ann Knight, CBE (born Angela Ann Cook, 31 October 1950) currently Chief Executive of the British Bankers' Association (BBA). Formerly Conservative Party Member of Parliament (MP) representing the constituency of Erewash from 1992-97, and served as the Economic Secretary to the Treasury from 1995-97.

Born in Sheffield, Angela Knight went to the Penrhos College boarding school in Colwyn Bay, and Sheffield High School. She then went to the University of Bristol, gaining a BSc in Chemistry, and became an engineer working for Air Products, where she became a Product Development Manager for nitrogen. She went on to set up and serve as Chief Executive of Cook & Knight Metallurgical Processors Ltd a specialist contract heat treatment company treating precision engineering components. She served as a councillor on Sheffield City Council from 1987-92.

In 1992 Angela became the MP for Erewash becoming Economic Secretary to the Treasury from 1995-97. She lost her seat to Liz Blackman of the Labour Party in 1997.

In September 1997 she became Chief Executive of APCIMS (the Association of Private Client Investment Managers and Stockbrokers). She was appointed Chief Executive of the BBA in April 2007.
